

Norwich Bulletin
and Courier
118 YEARS OLD
Subscription price 12c a week; 50c a month; $4.00 a year.
Entered at the Postoffice at Norwich, Conn., as second-class matter.
Telephone Calls:
Bulletin business Office 490.
Bulletin Editorial Rooms 35-3.
Bulletin Job Office 35-3.
Williamson Office, Room 3, Murray Building, Telephone 310.

The Circulation of The Bulletin
The Bulletin has the largest circulation of any paper from Eastern Connecticut and from three to four times larger than that of any in Norwich. It is delivered to over 4,000 of the 4,053 houses in Norwich, a 1 read by ninety-three per cent. of the people. In Windham it is delivered to over 800 houses, in Putnam and Danielson to over 1,100 and in all of these places it is considered the local daily.
Eastern Connecticut has forty-nine towns, one hundred and sixty-five postal free delivery routes, and sixty rural free delivery routes.
The Bulletin is sold in every town and on all of the R. F. D. routes in Eastern Connecticut.
CIRCULATION
1907 average..... 4,412
1908, average..... 5,920
June 27..... 8,963

Have The Bulletin Follow You
Readers of The Bulletin leaving the city for vacation trips can have it follow them daily and thus keep in touch with home affairs. Order through The Bulletin office.

TAKING ADVANTAGE OF SALEM.
The announcement which comes from other cities that good sized sums are available for inducing the burned out industries of Salem to seek other and new locations, is like adding insult to injury. Salem has received a crushing blow from the disastrous fire which swept through its industrial and residential sections from which it is going to suffer for a long time to come, yet it is taking its medicine philosophically and making commendable efforts to clean up, rebuild and get back on its feet, taking advantage at the same time of the valuable lessons which are to be gleaned from the conditions as they prevailed at the time of the fire.
For other cities to go into Salem, take advantage of its crippled condition and attempt to induce its manufacturing plants to locate elsewhere is most inconsiderate sort of treatment. It reveals a disposition to take advantage of another's misfortune in an unjust manner. Even industries which are thus approached must have their doubts about the sincerity of such propositions if they even consider such advances.
What Salem needs is the help of its friends and neighbors at this time and not to be jumped upon while it is down. The city in its plight cannot afford to lose a single industry and it is mighty small business for any other city to try to induce even the smallest to abandon the place at this time. Some of the largest manufacturing companies have already begun the rebuilding of their plants, thus setting an example and giving encouragement to the others to do likewise.

A FEEBLE IMPRESSION.
As far as making a vote getting impression was concerned in that attack upon the Wilson administration, as made by Theodore Roosevelt in his Pittsburgh speech, it might better have been left to someone else. The country is recognizing the faults and shortcomings of the democratic rule and it is also conscious of just what made it possible for such conditions to be brought about. It was the result of the progressive movement, an outcome which was indicated and warned against without avail. That the democrats should be blamed and held entirely responsible for the putting into action of their policies may be the Roosevelt way of looking at it, but it is impossible to overlook the important part which the progressives played in that step.
The die was cast and now the country is reaping the results, but it is evident throughout the country that the people have gotten their eyes open to the inevitable outcome of supporting the third party. There cannot be much progress back of such conditions as those against which a majority of the people are sick and tired. Personal magnetism may count for a lot, but experience is a dear teacher and whether it is the people of Pennsylvania or any other state who are being addressed, they have now had a chance to think twice. They are getting the proof of what the progressive democratic principles are and they are not going to be led about blindfolded when it comes to the consideration of Roosevelt radicalism. A man may have an excited gold mine, but he isn't often caught a second time by the same game.

PARCEL POST BUSINESS.
All the problems of parcel post have not been worked out as yet and all the remonstrances concerning adequate compensation for services rendered in connection with this constantly increasing service are not coming from the railroads if the feeling of the rural carriers of Tacoma, Washington, becomes general throughout the country.
This doesn't mean that parcel post isn't proving a success, but that it is a great success insofar as it is able to attract business, but what is bothering the carriers and causing them to give up their contracts is the large increase in the volume of mail matter handled, including all kinds of packages, without any increase in the way of pay. The advantages of parcel post are being realized, but such means extra work for the carriers with the result that under old conditions of pay they are not getting a proper deal.

The large amount of parcel business is a condition which is going to increase continually as long as efficient service is furnished and from it the government and the people are going to secure all that was anticipated, but it is evident that it must be operated like every other business, with a fair consideration for the services which are called for and which have to be rendered. It is unjust to presume that the department could expect any of the carriers to accept burdensome conditions resulting from the growth of this department any more than it could expect city carriers to handle Christmas business throughout the year without relief.
Parcel post is what the country wants and there should be the necessary steps taken to pay for the proper handling thereof.

WEST VIRGINIA'S EXPERIMENT.
Whatever condition the prohibition movement may be in there is bound to be interest in the operation of the new liquor prohibition law which has gone into effect in West Virginia with the opening of July. It was by over ninety thousand votes that the state was put into the dry column, and legislation of a character to make prohibition less of a farce than in other states, where it has been adopted, has been attempted in this state. A record is to be made of all liquor brought into the state, the names of the bringing party secured, and in the precautions to prevent the sale of intoxicants the drug stores have been included and no exception is made of private clubs.
West Virginia has endeavored to overcome some of the loopholes which have existed in prohibition states and have enacted some rigid laws, but unless still greater vigilance is used in the enforcement thereof the repetition of the Maine experiences can be expected. Prohibition and laws to support it amount to little unless there is a respect for the same insisted upon through enforcement. It has been freely declared in arguments against prohibition that it could never be carried out because of the inclination to wink at the law and the many means of getting around it. It is this problem which West Virginia now faces and for which preparation has been made, and for that reason the country is one which the country is going to watch with much concern.

WHAT CARDEN SEES.
There is peculiar significance attached to the warning which has been given to the British subjects in Mexico City by Sir Lionel Carden, the minister from Great Britain, when he urges them to get out of the country and to take no time in doing so. This step is taken a number of months after it was considered advisable for the subjects of this country to leave though these people have not been subjected to any apparent danger in the meantime.
There is nothing to substantiate any false alarm methods about the advice. Such would be too serious a matter to engage in and when he declares that the time has come to go, there is good reason to believe that there is something back of it, which is due for further development later on. No one is probably in closer touch with the situation than the British minister, and it is probably based on something more than "a feeling in his bones" when he takes such steps for the safety of his people.
The decline of Huerta has been steady. There have been many conferences by Sir Lionel with the dictator and not a little advice has been offered if reports are true, so that his fears can be considered reasonably well founded. There is no question but that he sees the end of Huerta, but when that actually takes place, and it is as likely to be forced from within Mexico City as without, the possibilities are such that he is unwilling to assume the responsibility in the way of furnishing his subjects adequate protection if they remain. What he sees will be known later.

EDITORIAL NOTES.
If it will help Huerta to fix an early date for his "long vacation" the time is ripe to offer him his hat.

No one can accuse June of having been in league with the rain maker, but July offers hope to the farmers.

Great wheat crops this year and great shiploads of beef from South America, but the price of beef is still going up.

Prices on corns always slump after there has been an assassination or an attempt at one. It isn't all velvet after all.

It wouldn't be at all surprising if Albania was due for the greatest shock after all the hullabaloo by George Fred Williams.

Regardless of the weather conditions the putting into effect of the "dry" order on the battleships couldn't help kicking up quite a storm.

The man on the corner says: Even the fellow who works for a living doesn't mind the extra task which goes with the corn-on-the-cob season.

From the difficulty which some navigators are having in keeping off the rocks it is evident that fog is as dangerous industrially as it is on the high seas.

When John Wanamaker calls the newspaper "the movie of the human life" it is a definition which all can understand the truth of and appreciate.

Hiram Johnson will probably take notice of the fact that the volcano in his state gives promise of greater things while that at Sagamore hill shows less activity.

While President Wilson is predicting one of the greatest industrial booms in the history of the country, it is being realized that there must be some size to it to get business back to normal conditions.

Good citizenship day is now being proposed for the day before the Fourth. If there is anything which should have no restrictions, but should be observed every day in the year, it is good citizenship.

BERTHA'S VISIT
She didn't look a day older than she did five years ago. Her hair is just as brown, her eyes are just as blue, her smile is just as sweet. He was in his shirt sleeves. His voice grew shrill with emphasis.
"Lose Mrs. Pans, who had left the weekly meeting of the Ladies Aid society half an hour earlier than usual because Jim would be home early for dinner, slipped silently out of the vestry and buttoned her coat outside. There was a curious light in her rather faded blue eyes. Fifteen years! The curious light became bitter. The years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loomis unmarked, but they had left plain imprints on Julia Pans. She looked as old as she felt, and that was very different. But Julia was too old nor too tired to shrink from having Jim compare her with Bertha. She wished that she could go away. Keep the years may have left Bertha Loom